OCLC Research publications on Research Information Management

Research Information Management (RIM) systems support the transparent aggregation, curation, and utilization of data about institutional research activities.

This includes:

- Research Networking System (RNS)
- Researcher Profile System (RPS)
- Expert Finder System (EFS)
- Faculty Activity Reporting (FAR) system
- Current Research Information System (CRIS)

International Forum on Expert Finders Systems

- Join us to learn and build this community of practice in Coral Gables Miami, Florida on April 5-6, 2023, <http://expertfindersystems.org>
