CRIS/IR Survey
Report

Current Research Information Systems (CRISs) and Institutional Repositories (IRs) are two main components of the Research Information Management realm. The rising strategic importance of CRISs and IRs for higher education and research institutions is linked to the need of fostering research and innovation.

The features of these two systems have gradually been extended and their role within the institutions is permanently evolving as an answer to new policies on Open Access, National Assessment and
